

CONFRONTATIONAL AVOIDANCE TECHNIQUES[©] Instructor Certification Registered Training Kit

COURSE PROFILE:

De-escalation training in the past couple of years has increased throughout virtually every profession by numerous organizations. Prior to that it was not taught. Two programs that have been instructed to law enforcement and corrections for 30+ years has been C.A.T. and Verbal Judo.

The C.A.T. course was initially developed for CERT teams for corrections in 1990. This training, in dealing with hostile non-compliant subjects has on average lowered use of force by 70%. Due to the demand, the program has been since implemented for law enforcement, school resource officers, hospital police and juvenile justice agencies. The Instructor Kit saves department resources by certifying an instructor in-house.

This retention based; highly evaluated training program addresses the “Common Denominator of violent behavior “ANGER.” It fully addresses the 4-types of anger, pre-assaultive indicators, body space parameters and 3-Key verbal de-escalation techniques.
